ORGANIC AND LOW-IMPACT SKINCARE

Linda Stein created Zosimos Botanicals with the commitment to reduce the impact of her business on the environment. She built a 100 percent wind-powered facility, and she avoids chemicals with long unpronounceable names. She uses certified organic ingredients, including herbs and oils that are held in high regard in other countries, such as New Zealand's manuka honey and Brazil's açai berries. Her website includes a glossary of the ingredients she uses to formulate her mineral makeup, skin, and body care products as well as nontoxic soy candles with hypoallergenic scents. I tried a few of Linda's body care products. The Citrus Salt Scrub with Dead Sea salt and Epsom salt, macadamia nut oil and an essential oil blend of grapefruit, lemon, lime, tangerine, and ylang ylang (4 oz/$10; 8 oz/$15) is very detoxifying, softening and smoothing.

The Honey Citrus Sugar Scrub with jojoba, almond oil, turbinado sugar, honey, grapefruit and tangerine essential oils (4 oz/$10; 8 oz/$15) is milder than the salt scrub.

I also tried the charming handmade Olive Oil Soap ($4), which I'm sure your clients would love to find in your office bathroom, and the Body Butter (4 oz/$14; 8oz/$19). This Body Butter feels wonderful on the skin and since it's made with almond oil, fractionated coconut oil, and jojoba, it has enough glide to be suitable to use for a luxurious massage. Wholesale pricing is available.
